

SARAH HARING, WIDOW OF CAPTAIN SAMUEL HARING..

MARCH 5, 1840.

Read, and laid on the table.

Mr. C. MORRIS, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, submitted the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Sarah Haring, widow of Samuel Haring, deceased, formerly a captain in the army, praying for a pension, report :

That a pension having been allowed the husband of the said widow, she rests her claim for a pension upon the grounds that he lived to enjoy it but a few months, and that he was a great expense to her for his support and medical attendance, from the 27th of May, 1813, till 9th of July, 1830.

The first section of the law of 4th of July, 1836, (the only one applying to the last war,) granted pensions to those widows only whose husbands were of the militia, volunteers, &c. Captain Haring, it seems, was of the 13th regiment of infantry.

The petition is not accompanied with any evidence or facts, other than those stated by the petitioner herself.

The committee report unfavorably.

Blair & Rives, printers.

SARAH HARRING, WIDOW OF CAPTAIN SAMUEL HARRING.

MARCH 5, 1840.

Read, and laid on the table.

Mr. C. MORRIS, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, submitted the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Sarah Haring, widow of Samuel Haring, deceased, formerly a captain in the army, praying for a pension, report:

That a pension having been allowed the husband of the said widow, she rests her claim for a pension upon the grounds that he lived to enjoy it but a few months, and that he was a great expense to her for his support and medical attendance, from the 27th of May, 1813, till 9th of July, 1836. The first section of the law of July, 1836, (the only one applying to the last war,) granted pensions to those widows only whose husbands were of the militia, volunteers, &c. Captain Haring, it seems, was of the 13th regiment of infantry.

The petition is not accompanied with any evidence or facts, other than those stated by the petitioner herself.

The committee report unfavorably.

Blair & Rice, printers.